Nova Lavon’s Magical Reading Path

By Tiffany Toru Johnson 2025

Once upon a time, in a colorful land filled with tall mountains and bright flowers, four friends loved to read. Their names were Nova, Maya, Kofi, and Jamal.

One sunny day, they discovered a golden path winding through the hills. "Let's follow it!" said Nova, her eyes sparkling with excitement.

As they walked, they found beautiful trees and vibrant plants. Each time they opened their books, the characters jumped out to play! A friendly lion roared happily, and a clever rabbit danced around them.

"Wow! Reading is magical!" shouted Kofi, giggling as the rabbit did a silly hop.

They read stories of brave heroes and faraway lands, making new friends with every page. The golden path led them to a giant tree where the biggest book of all rested in its branches.

"Let’s read it together!" Nia suggested, and they all sat under the tree, sharing the story of a starry adventure.

As the sun began to set, they closed their books, smiling. "Let’s come back tomorrow!" Jamal said, and they all agreed.

From that day on, the magical reading path became their favorite place, where every story turned into a new adventure with friends.

And so, the friends read happily ever after!

The End